We Will Remember Them....

As a school, Remembrance Day was marked in each class. All classes observed the 2 minute silence and children produced work associated with remembrance throughout the day. Pieces of work from each class have formed a stunning display in the main school building, pictured above.

Class 1 made and painted poppies and enjoyed associated painting activities on the computer. Class 2 were inspired by a piece of art showing the poppy fields. They then all created their own piece, with excellent finished results that are all displayed in their classroom. Class 3 used watercolours to create beautiful backgrounds then cut silhouette soldiers to sit in front. The finished pieces were so effective. Class 4 studied the classic poem 'Flanders Fields.' After analysing the language patterns, they then wrote their own versions which were absolutely breath-taking. Class 5 also had an art focus and used water colours and calligraphy techniques to produce some stunning reflective pieces of art.

To finish I wanted to share a prayer reflecting on remembrance, written by Isla in class 1, aged 4.

Dear Lord, Thank you Great Grandad for being so brave. Thank you for teaching us to be safe. I love you. Amen

My Life Story Idea

By Aiden Beards (Class 5)

I never thought that I, Aiden Beards, would be a paid author/storywriter, but it happened because Mrs Martin set up a story challenge in class 5 to type 100 words and I did that. I then thought this isn't enough so I continued my story and I made it precisely 1,000 words long and then I thought "WOW!" This is a huge increase to how many words were enough to complete the challenge. I finished on Thursday 8th October 2020, I was very proud of myself.

After writing my story I submitted it to The Art of Autism website. I found out that I was getting paid and I was super excited but I had to wait one month to get the money and then on Tuesday 3rd November 2020 I finally got the money, £20. If I ever do another one, I'll submit it to the same website.
